Cambridge Creative Corridor invites you to celebrate the launch of

Where Futures Converge–Kendall Square and the Making of a Global Innovation Hub

by Robert Buderl

Kendall Square and East Cambridge have undergone tremendous change. In this account of the evolution of the area, Mr. Buderl documents the industrial roots and how continued reinvention has earned Kendall Square the reputation as the most innovative square mile on the planet. He details the past, present and possible future iterations and the impact on both a local and a global scale.
